

DRYDOCK AT PEARL HARBOR SEEMS SURE

Walter F. Dillingham Cables That Conditions Are Favorable and Advises Local Organizations to Withhold Any Action at Present

ANSWERS MESSAGE FROM CHAMBER OF COMMERCE

Trustees Act Promptly Following Meeting—Fears Are Now Set at Rest

Chamber of Commerce,
Honolulu.
Conditions generally favorable
Pearl Harbor. Advise against local action.
DILLINGHAM.

The above cablegram, received this morning in answer to one addressed to Walter F. Dillingham, in Washington, D. C., by the Chamber of Commerce yesterday, sets at rest, to a considerable extent, the fears that had been entertained locally that the action of Secretary of the Navy Daniels, in proposing to Congress a $2,500,000 drydock in San Francisco, might mean the death knell to the Pearl Harbor project.

At a recent meeting of the trustees of the chamber, the matter concerning Secretary Daniels' proposal was introduced by President George Carter who asked the question whether or not the Chamber of Commerce should at this time inaugurate a campaign in favor of the Pearl Harbor undertaking. Considerable discussion was had on the matter with the result that it was moved to first secure the co-operation of the Merchants' Association, and then dispatch a cablegram to Walter F. Dillingham, a member of the board of trustees of the chamber and now in Washington, asking him to ascertain the status of the situation and submit his findings to the board.

The following cablegram was dispatched to Mr. Dillingham yesterday afternoon:

"Will proposed floating drydock at San Francisco in any way interfere with the future Pearl Harbor plans. Shall local mercantile organizations here get busy. Can you suggest the best course to pursue."

It was intimated by the trustees yesterday that an answer would not be received for several days, but Mr. Dillingham's reply this morning evidently means that there is no serious proposition now on foot at the national capital which would lead to the abandonment of Pearl Harbor as a site for a drydock. The work at Pearl Harbor will, it is understood, go on under the proposed plans. As stated in the Star-Bulletin a few days ago, a rumor is prevalent locally that Congress may construct a floating drydock at the Union Iron Works plant, San Francisco, which would be towed to Honolulu and used at the harbor until the proposed graving dock is completed there.

H. F. Wood, secretary of the Chamber of Commerce, said this afternoon that the Chamber of Commerce will delay any intended action in the drydock matter until the further development of Secretary Daniels' plans. The organization, he said, will abide by Mr. Dillingham's reply to its cable.

CIRCUIT AND SUPREME COURT RULES REVISE

Attorneys Arthur Wilder, D. L. Wittington and Robbins B. Anderson, representing the Bar Association of Hawaii, will meet shortly with Attorney-General Thayer to review and revise the circuit and supreme court rules, the latter of which are to be incorporated in Volume 31 of the supreme court reports which now is practically ready for publication.

The circuit court rules, it is understood, will not be incorporated in this volume for the reason that the book already is an exceedingly voluminous tome and the addition would make it too cumbersome. The committee and the attorney-general, in preparing these, will have as the basis of their work a set of rules prepared by Hon. H. E. Cooper, first judge of the first circuit. At the same time new rules for applications for admission to practice in the territorial courts probably will be revised. Provision for the alteration of the regulations was made by the last legislature, through the medium of Act 40, of the session laws of 1912.

William H. Goetz Dies Suddenly Veteran of Newspaper Field Passes

WILLIAM H. GOETZ

Wheels Stop Turning and Activity Ceases Throughout Star-Bulletin Departments in Honor of His Memory

William H. Goetz, superintendent and head of the mechanical department of the Star-Bulletin and widely known and loved through a stanch circle of friends and acquaintances, died at his home on Manoa road at 9:20 o'clock last night, succumbing to a sudden stroke of apoplexy that followed a slight illness of a week.

At a quarter to twelve o'clock this morning every wheel in every department of the Star-Bulletin stopped turning, and every member of the establishments on Alakea and on Merchant streets ceased work. In the middle of the busy day that goes to the making of a daily newspaper, the rush of activity and the hum of bustle for a brief space was still in respect to the loved memory of a veteran in the newspaper life of this city. Connected with the Star-Bulletin since its inception a year and a half ago, and for many years before that with its predecessors, the Hawaiian Star and the Evening Bulletin, as well as with the Gazette Company, "Billy" Goetz, as he was best known, had taken an active and a prominent part in the development of newspaper-making as Honolulu had developed for more than a decade past.

He was recognized as an expert in the mechanical end of newspaper-making, and his knowledge of affairs was far wider than this. He was a citizen of many activities for the good of his city.

DEMOCRATIC LEAGUE GETS HONOR OF INTRODUCING JEFF M'CARN

Rapid Arrangements Completed and Acceptance Secured for Monday Evening Dinner

The Hawaii National Democratic League has won first honors in the introduction of the new United States district attorney, Jeff M'Carn, to the people of Honolulu.

Mr. M'Carn will be guest of honor at a reception banquet to be held next Monday evening in the Moose lodge headquarters on Fort Street. He it noted that this date is one day earlier than the Men's League dinner at which it has been believed the district attorney would make his local debut.

Such is the result of some rapid arrangements by a special committee of the Democratic League headed by Senator Ambrose J. Wirtz. This committee wired out to the transport Thomas the following message to Mr. M'Carn:

"Hawaii National Democratic League and all Democratic organizations bid you welcome to our sunny shores. Are preparing reception dinner. Will Saturday or Monday evening prove acceptable to you?"
In reply came the following:
"Shall be glad to meet your organ-

Since the consolidation of the two evening papers, Mr. Goetz held the position of superintendent and head of the mechanical department of the Star-Bulletin, a place he filled in the same capable manner and with the same marked ability and fine character that distinguished everything he did either in his private business, or in his Masonic and Mystic Shrine offices or at his home.

The news of his death comes as a great shock to those who knew him and loved him and affectionately called him "Billy" Goetz. The place he won in their hearts is fixed and real and indelible. Honored by the fraternal order to which he belonged with many high offices, loved for his sterling character, his unusual ability and modest manner, his friends are to be found over the entire islands, and his death is mourned as the death of a brother.

Having been chosen to the office of chief rabban of Aloha Temple of the Mystic Shrine a few days ago, he would have been the illustrious potentate in 1915. Not alone was the faith and sincere affection of his lodge brothers, testified to in the Mystic Shrine, which he joined December 13, 1902, a year after the temple was started, but in the Masonic order honors were bestowed on him many times. At his death he was master of

EWA PLANTATION TO MAKE CHRISTMAS PRESENT TO ITS SHAREHOLDERS OF 2 PERCENT

Through the action of its directors this morning, Ewa Plantation Company conferred some holiday cheer upon its stockholders. It was decided to pay an extra dividend of two per cent, or 40 cents a share, on December 31. So this month's payment will be 45 cents a share, instead of 5 cents as has been the case each month since June 30 last. On that date the dividend was ordered reduced from 15 cents to 5 cents a share monthly, but this cut was at the time taken as an agreeable surprise, the expectation outside having been that the dividend was to be cut out altogether.

Besides the extra dividend at the end of this year, the directors of Ewa have decided to double the regular monthly dividend at the beginning of the new year, making it 10 cents a share instead of five cents, or one-half of one per cent instead of one-quarter of one per cent, until further notice.

AD CLUB GIVEN POWER TO HANDLE BIG STOCK SELLING CAMPAIGN

Mid-Pacific Carnival Funds Will Be Raised by Premier Boost Organization

The finance committee of the proposed corporation to be known as the Mid-Pacific Carnival, Limited, this morning designated the Honolulu Ad Club to act as its sales agent and to assume full control of the selling of stock to finance the annual spring celebration. The members of the finance committee and the special committee of the Ad Club appointed by President W. R. Farrington, met in the rooms of the Merchants' Association at 9 o'clock, and after considerable discussion leaning favorably toward the one-organization plan of campaign, took the foregoing action upon a motion made by James L. McLean.

As a result of this action, the Ad Club will have entire charge of canvassing the city to promote the sale of the stock, and in doing this will act in co-operation with sub-committees from any local commercial organization whose aid it may see fit to enlist. According to the present plans, the Ad Club will secure the subscriptions and collect such money as it can, while the money for those pledges not paid on the spot will be looked after by the finance committee. A corporation or person may buy $100 worth of stock and of this amount 10 per cent is payable on January 5, 1914, and the rest subject to the call of the finance committee. On the other hand, if a corporation buys stock amounting to less than $10, the entire amount is payable on or before January 5.

In opening the meeting, Chairman T. M. Church of the finance committee laid before those present the following suggestions as to the selling of stock:

1. The finance committee prepare lists of firms outside the jurisdiction of the Chamber of Commerce and the Merchants' Association which it desires to be canvassed. This list be placed in the hands of the Ad Club.
2. The Ad Club prepare its own list of firms outside the two commercial bodies.
3. The Ad Club have entire charge of the campaign, including the membership of the Merchants' Association and the Chamber of Commerce.

The discussion was opened by George R. Carter, president of the Chamber of Commerce, who spoke in glowing terms of the work of the Ad Club and intimated that he was in favor of that organization having complete charge. The chamber, he said, would be willing to appoint a committee to assist in the work. It would not be hard to raise $20,000, he explained, and he advised that every citizen of Honolulu be asked to become a stockholder. They would be enthusiastic in the matter, he concluded, for by purchasing stock, no matter to what amount, they would have a vote in the management of the carnival.

O. C. Swain, president of the Merchants' Association, spoke along the same lines as did Mr. Carter, saying that his organization would lend its hearty co-operation. Other speakers were Wallace R. Farrington, Harry Strange, Tom Sharp, A. L. C. Atkinson, Sherwood Lowrey, Ed. Paris and T. M. Church. The date for the beginning of the campaign will be settled by the Ad Club, and it is believed that the work will be done between Christmas and the first of the new year. Each person or firm taking stock will be furnished with a temporary receipt and later with a regularly printed statement that he or it is a shareholder.

JEFF M'CARN MUST TAKE OATH OF OFFICE BEFORE ASSUMING JOB

Before the new United States district attorney assumes his duties here he will be required to undergo a little court formality, consisting of taking the oath of office, and that may take place in the federal court next Monday morning. It is barely possible, however, that the "honoring" to which the local Democrats and Men's League propose to subject him immediately on his arrival may delay Mr. M'Carn's assumption of office; this depends entirely on his wishes. He may not take the oath until Tuesday.

The formality will be about as follows: He will appear in court, before either Judge Dole or Clements, and some practicing attorney will present a motion to the court asking that Jeff M'Carn be admitted to practice as proctor in this district. That granted, his commission to serve as district attorney will be read, and then the oath of office will be administered by the court. These little federal court functions are extremely formal and generally well worth witnessing.

CIVIL SERVICE LETTER PLACED ON FILE BY BOARD OF SUPERVISORS

Members of the board of supervisors heard the communication sent to them by the civil service commission at the board's meeting today. In the communication the commissioners contended that the expenses that had been incurred, some of which were disallowed by the supervisors, were bona fide expenses and properly chargeable to the city and county. They also contended that they had not exceeded their authority in making recommendations for the betterment of the police and fire departments.

On motion, the communication was placed on file. Supervisor McClellan stated that the commissioners should be advised to read act 72 of the session laws of 1911, which act makes it an offense punishable by imprisonment for expenses to be incurred in excess of the amount appropriated for an official or body such as the civil service commission.

MADISON SQUARE GARDEN, New York City, Dec. 12.—A street battle occurred today when two groups of gangsters, who have been infesting Madison Square Garden during the six-day bicycle race decided to fight out their rivalry and adjourned to Fourth avenue. There, with revolvers they fought a street duel in which at least 50 shots were fired. A street car was commandeered by one of the gangs, and then while the passengers lay on the floor in deadly fear, the battle went on. Nobody was hit so far as can be learned and nobody has been arrested. The gangsters jumped into autos at the conclusion of their engagement and fled.

PHOSPHORUS IS DECLARED REMEDY FOR TUBERCULOSIS

Phosphorus in the pure state as a curative agent in cases of tuberculosis of the lungs is extolled by Dr. Ferguson Lemon, of Melbourne, Australia, writing in The New York Medical Journal. Dr. Lemon tells of one of his patients, apparently rescued from the very jaws of death by this treatment. He writes:

"After the initial dose of morphine had been injected, phosphorus in 1-600 grain doses was administered every alternate hour, and it was rather remarkable to see how rapidly this patient recovered from the post-hemorrhagic pneumonia."

"When the patient was his normal self again, a thorough examination of his chest was made. It showed the whole of his right lung rigidly with large, rounded, loose, bubbling, rules all over, back and front, and all the other accessory signs of advanced pulmonary phthisis. The apex of the left lung very closely resembled that of the right lung; then after a fairly wide belt of absolute consolidation, the lower lobe, though free of consolidation, was markedly infected with early tuberculosis disease; fine crepitations were heard all over the lower part, and prolonged expiration, and increased vocal resonance were marked—a picture, on the whole, of very widespread tuberculosis degeneration."

"So advanced was this condition that it is a wonder he continued to exist at all, much less to carry on his work, that of a proofreader to a large publishing firm in Melbourne, in the intervals between the attacks."

"For some years he had been treated in the orthodox fashion for phthisis—that is, by nourishment, principally in the form of large quantities of milk, creosote, etc. He was little more than skin and bone, and to the casual observer he was past all possible hope of improvement. He had always resolutely refused to sleep in the open air."

"He returned to his work, taking one dose of 1-600th grain of phosphorus daily for the next three months, and, with the exception of an occasional friendly visit, was not attended again for hemorrhage during the next three years, when professional relation with him ceased. It was not till some years afterward that he was seen again and barely recognized."
